

Wife of Assemblyman C. C. Boak, they married in 1912, culminating a childhood romance; Mrs Boak passed away at the family home on Ellis Street, having been confined to her bed for several months past. Two days ago Mrs. Boak lapsed into a coma. Her sister Bertha Fuller of Florida, who was delayed several times because of wartime travel congestion arrived five minutes after Mrs. Boak expired. Mrs. Boak was an accomplished pianist and had studied under the famous artist Emil Liebling in Chicago.
