

Rhyolite Herald, June 9, 1905

“DAVID C. HAIG.”

David C. Haig, aged 58 years, died Wednesday morning of pneumonia after a long illness. Mr. Haig came here from San Jose, Calif., where his wife and three children reside. He has lived there for many years, following the occupation of mining carpenter. During his illness the members of the local carpenters union have cared for him. The funeral was held this afternoon from the Desert Inn; interment in the cemetery south of town. Dr. Hills officiated. J. Wiley had the funeral in charge.