

Los Angeles Herald, 6/5/1874:

NEVADA. Lynch Law - The Officers Bound and Two Men Hanged.

Austin, June 4. - Last night at 11 o'clock a crowd of thirty masked men entered the jail at Belmont, seized and bound the Sheriff and deputy, and hanged two prisoners named McIntyre and Walker.

Sacramento Daily Union, 6/6/1874:

Lynch Law in Nevada - Further Particulars. Austin, June 5th.

Further particulars were received this evening from Belmont (Nev.) of the hanging of McIntyre and Walker at that place, on Wednesday. They show that both men had been imprisoned upon serious charges, but had broken jail on the morning of the date of their execution. Both the men are said to have been desperadoes. Walker shot and killed a man in the Lundy House at Belmont a few weeks ago, and McIntyre also had the reputation of being a six-shooter expert.
